THE MAIN MENU

These six pages sit in the header on every screen. Everything else on the site is reached from one of them.

01 HOME

`/index.html`

The front page. Shows who we are, the five product lines, the departments inside the factory and the nine-step process, then sends the visitor to a quote.

02 COLLECTIONS

`/collections.html`

The catalogue. One tile per product line; clicking a tile opens that line's own page.

03 PROCESS

`/process.html`

How an order is made, step by step, from your sketch to the packed carton.

04 ABOUT

`/about.html`

Who NTF INTERNATIONAL is, what the factory can do and the full manufacturing banner.

05 CONTACT

`/contact.html`

Phone, WhatsApp, email, address and working hours.

06 REQUEST A QUOTE

`/quote.html`

The enquiry form: product line, sizes, quantity and how you want it branded.

> Also on the site, but not in the menu: a Not Found page that catches a mistyped address and offers the catalogue, plus two files search engines read — an index of all pages and a crawler instruction file.

HOW A BUYER GETS TO A QUOTE

The whole site is built to carry someone from the front page to a filled-in enquiry in six moves.

01 ARRIVES

A buyer lands on the home page, from search or a link you sent.

02 BROWSES

They open Collections and pick the line they need — say MMA Wear.

03 COMPARES

Inside the line they see its five products, each with fabric, sizes and build detail.

04 READS THE DETAIL

A product page gives the full specification and the minimum order.

05 CHECKS YOU OUT

Process and About answer the question every buyer asks: can this factory actually make it.

06 ASKS FOR A PRICE

Request a Quote collects the line, sizes, quantity and branding, and emails it to you.

> Every product page and every collection page carries a “request a quote” button, so a buyer never has to go looking for it.
